A New Repository Dedicated to Blogging

In less than twenty days, I will fly back to China. Since I may lose access to Medium.com due to the notorious Great Firewall (GFW), I have created a new GitHub repository dedicated to blogging. You can access this repository at <https://github.com/mrlizhaozhi/the-blog-of-lizhaozhi/>.

I know it sounds insane to use a GitHub code repository as a blogging platform, but I do not believe there are blogging platforms better than Medium. Chinese websites are usually cluttered with random articles and advertisements. All Chinese websites must be registered with the internet regulatory authority or will be banned in the country. Therefore, I will post my articles to this repository moving forward for convenience.

If my VPN works well, I will continue to use Medium as my primary blogging platform. Please follow me on Medium, GitHub, Tableau, Stack Overflow, and visit my website at <https://mrlizhaozhi.github.io/> regularly for updates.
