

On the Launch of From the Desk of George Z. Li

4th June 2021

Yesterday, I launched a new website called From the Desk of George Z. Li. You can access this website through the homepage of my official website at <https://mrlizhaozhi.github.io/>. You can also visit <https://mrlizhaozhi.github.io/desk/> to access this website directly.

This website also uses flexboxes and media queries. It is responsive to different screen sizes. You can access this website on desktop computers or mobile devices like tablets and cell phones. Moving forward, I will use this new communications platform to share my thoughts on a variety of topics.

As I continue to upgrade this website, I will be able to share images, videos, and audios in addition to plain texts. I hope that all of you will look at my new website. I recommend visiting this new website every day for fresh content.

Cheers,

Li Zhaozhi